

ARMED GOLF CADDIES UNITE

Look to Regain Privileges by Improving Membership of Organization.

Caddy boys of the Rock Island Arsenal Golf club recently held a meeting for the purpose of organizing a caddies' club with the view of adding to their comfort and welfare when off duty and stimulating a worthy effort to perfect themselves in their caddy work through systematic training.

Having in mind that many coveted privileges long enjoyed by them were cancelled by the Golf club officials, on account of the destructive tendencies of unruly boys, the leaders of the newly organized club decided that they could only regain their lost privileges by organizing themselves and weeding out the boys who have caused the trouble.

Before any action was taken, permission to try out the club experiment by the caddies was granted by Col. Harry B. Jordan, commanding officer of the arsenal, and president of the golf club. Permission was also granted to use the old caddy house for club purposes.

E. W. Woodcock, president of the Moline council, Boy Scouts of America, was asked to help the boys organize their new club, which they decided by vote to call the "Arsenal Caddies' Club." To assist him in this commendable work, Mr. Woodcock enlisted the services of Scout Executive Bracher, whose untiring devotion to the advancement and personal welfare of all boys is well known to the scouts of the tri-city, many of whom are earning good money as caddies.

It was explained to the caddy boys that the success of their club wholly depended upon themselves; that it was to be their club and exclusively run by them; that they were to exercise their own initiative in all matters pertaining to their general behavior during their leisure moments, as well as during their working hours and that if they made good the officials and members of the Golf club would co-operate with them in every possible way. This confidence in the boys pleased them greatly and they keenly set to work to perfect their organization.

Elect Officers.
For the first term of six weeks they elected the following officers: President—Kenneth Johnson. Vice President—George Hendricks.

Secretary—Isadore Katz. Treasurer—Emil Van Voren. Sergeant at Arms—Walter Mausledore.

By vote they decided to hold regular weekly meetings of the club, every Saturday morning between 9:30 and 11:30 at their club house. They also voted to clean, repaint and redecorate the club house under the direction of committees named by the president, and every member pledged himself to do his bit to make their new organization a success in every way.

"Do Your Best"—Motto.
"Do your best" was adopted by unanimous vote as the club motto. It was also decided by unanimous vote that each member should subscribe to the caddy oath, which reads as follows:

"I promise to be loyal to all. To do all my duties thoroughly and cheerfully. To do my best while caddying. To obey the law of the club." A committee was named by the president to draw up rules and by-laws, the same to be presented and voted upon at their next meeting. Officers and members of the Golf club are watching the development of the new caddies' club with keen interest and already are planning a caddies golf tournament for the boys before school opens.

FREE PICTURES OF BUGS AND WORMS

A picture book that a child can enjoy, and yet a scientific authority.

That describes the elaborate bulletin which the department of agriculture has published on the insect enemies you find in the home garden. It is a fine thing to place in the hands of a child. It will give him a new interest in the back yard and the lawn. The book contains 72 pages and is profusely illustrated.

Many have agreed to also contribute to a caddies club library for the educational benefit of the boys, who have the best wishes of every one for the success of their worthy desires.

MELON THIEF IS FOUND AND LOST

Boy Admits Stealing Load of Melons and Escapes on Way to Jail.

(Special to The Argus.)
Oquawka, Ill., Aug. 14.—Stolen muskmelons, bloodhounds and the arrest and subsequent escape of Raymond Knox, son of the former sheriff of Henderson county, all played important parts in the excitement rampant here over the week-end.

The trouble began when William Fluge loaded his truck with melons and left them in his yard overnight. In the morning Mr. Fluge discovered that all his melons had disappeared.

He immediately sent to Monmouth for bloodhounds, but the animals were not able to follow the trail of the thieves. Later in the day word came from Burlington that Raymond Knox had been arrested as the thief. It developed that he had taken them to Roseville, where he sold them. Then he went to Burlington, where he encountered the officer.

Gives Captives Slip.
Saturday morning he was brought to Oquawka by Sheriff McDill and allowed to go to his home for clothing before being put in the jail. While in the house he escaped through the rear window. Bloodhounds were again put into service, but as yet no trace of him has been found.

Atlantic City Saturday Noon

PETHEY BOY!

Just a night flash by fast mail to uncork you a real fuss-stirring idea that has five aces shaded!

Now, bolt this down:—no two people, unless they run a circus or write encyclopedias, ever agree offhand on which is a camel and which is a dromedary when you line the two up and check off one hump on one and two humps on the other. You can't do it with the sun shining!

Spill this "hump" question first time you're in a bunch of live ones—if you want to see fur fly! Never heard such a wind-jamming squall in my life as tonight when I passed it to our crowd! You know Betty Ellen Jones. Well, she said a dromedary was a he-camel hunting a date in the desert! And, Betty's "Vassar, '20"—rah, rah! All right, Betty!

All you've got to do is dig out your deck of Camel cigarettes. That "bird" out front clinches the argument—apparently—but!

In the classic language of bigger business circles—"you tell 'em Cricket, Katy did!"

Report your luck quick. Try it on old Jig Jones! And listen, Peter. I'll shortly slip you some smoke news that'll make Jake's ideas rattle like a tin can tied to a towser dog's tail! S'long!

Yours for warm socks next winter!

Shorty.
